Edward James Hogan

Edward James Hogan (Dec. 10, 1897 – March 24, 1970) was a star athlete at The Rayen School, in Youngstown, Ohio. He achieved statewide recognition as a javelin thrower and, later on, under the guidance of legendary coach Knute Rockne, became a “monogram man” for the University of Notre Dame’s varsity track team. Although Hogan relocated to Southern California in the late 1920s, Youngstown residents recalled his athletic feats for many decades. Hogan’s image is prominently featured in the historical mural at The Rayen School, and his obituary in The Youngstown Vindicator observed that, as a member of the Rayen football team, “he threw the game-winning pass in the 1916 Thanksgiving Day game against traditional rival South High.” His portrait currently hangs on the University of Notre Dame’s athletic “Wall of Honor.”

He was born on the North Side of Youngstown, the third son of Patrick J. Hogan, Jr., a “roller” for the Union Iron & Steel Company, and Mary Cullinan Hogan, an immigrant from Ballyallinan, County Limerick, Ireland. Athletic competition was encouraged in the Hogan household. Edward Hogan’s father, Patrick Hogan, had been a semi-professional boxer, and his uncle, Martin F. Hogan, was an ex-major leaguer who managed the Youngstown Ohio Works, a minor league baseball team that won the first championship of the Ohio-Pennsylvania League in 1905. Family lore suggests that Hogan, along with his younger brother, Raymond Aloysius, underwent a daily regimen of physical training under the guidance of their “Uncle Marty.” The Hogan brothers reportedly trained at a Westlake’s Crossing gymnasium that was located above a saloon operated by boxing promoter Patrick E. Cullinan, their mother’s younger brother.

When Hogan was about nine years old, his parents were devastated by news of the death of their eldest son, John F. (“Jack”) Hogan, a brilliant medical intern who succumbed to tuberculosis while seeking a cure in California. In the spirit of the times, John Hogan attempted to restore his health by working at a Western “dude ranch.” His body was shipped back to Youngstown from San Francisco, in April 1906. Although it is impossible to determine how the passing of the family’s most gifted member affected Edward Hogan, the record shows that he evolved into an ambitious, highly disciplined adolescent who excelled at a variety of sports while also maintaining a solid academic record. When the teaching nuns at St. Columba’s parish school sought to discourage him from attending The Rayen School, Hogan (like his older sister, Catherine Irene) chose to ignore their recommendations. At Rayen, he went on to set sports records that would stand for decades.

Between 1916 and his graduation in 1918, Hogan was a standout in sports including football, baseball, basketball, and track. His earliest visibility was achieved as halfback for the Rayen football team, where he played a decisive role in the school’s victory over archrival South High School. In December 1916, The Rayen Record described Hogan as “a fast and heavy man in the backfield.” The Record added: “He is very accurate at throwing passes. He tossed the one on which Jones made the touchdown in the South game.” This version of events is reiterated in Vic Frolund’s published account of Rayen-South games held between 1911 and 1960. “In the second period Rayen began a drive featured by old-fashioned play,” Frolund writes. “At this point Rayen surprised the Red and Blue [South High School’s colors] by switching to the overhead attack and the Northsiders scored on a pass tossed by halfback Eddie Hogan to quarterback Mike Jones for what proved to be the winning touchdown.” Family lore suggests that Hogan’s prowess on the gridiron turned him into a hated symbol at South High. One story indicates that, before the Rayen-South game of 1917, South High boosters staged a mock funeral featuring a coffin emblazoned with the name, Hogan—a display that infuriated Hogan’s older sister, Catherine Irene.”

1 Earlier references to this figure mistakenly described him as “Edward Jude Hogan.” Edward Jude Hogan is the name of the adopted son of Edward James Hogan. –TGW
For all his success on the gridiron, however, Hogan's greatest feats were in track and field. The Rayen Record reported, in June 1917, that Hogan, with teammates R. Palst and R. Reid, was part of the school's "triumvirate" in track and field. "The yearbook added, "All three of these men hold school records, and, in addition, 'Eddie' Hogan is acknowledged to be the best javelin thrower in the state."

During a meet at Mt. Union College, on May 18, 1917, Hogan helped Rayen's track team secure third place in the state. After teammate Reid ran the mile in four minutes and 45 seconds, "Hogan created another feature when he threw the javelin 153 feet 8 inches." The Record noted, "The javelin went over the judge's [sic] heads, and established a state record for Hogan."

Hogan's athletic activities at Rayen brought him into regular contact with his uncle, Marty Hogan, caretaker of Thomas Field, the Brier Hill park where the Rayen football team practiced. Thus, it seems natural that Edward Hogan kept more than a hand in baseball, serving as captain of the Rayen team in 1917. That same year, Hogan also became a "letterman" for the school basketball team, in a season where Rayen scored 266 points to its opponents' 192. Apparently, Marty Hogan's rigorous training helped mold his nephew into an extraordinarily well-rounded athlete.

Following graduation from Rayen, in 1918, Hogan joined the U.S. Naval Reserve. Along with several other Rayen alumni, he was sent to the Great Lakes, where he awaited shipment to Europe. An October 1918 article in The Rayen Record quotes one alumnus on the Great Lakes as saying: "They think we will go over about the first of the year. I hope so. I would like to get over before the war ends." More typical were comments reflecting continued interest in the progress of Rayen's football team. Hogan is quoted as saying, "I have learned many things of the new coach, and would be proud to be there to help in any way possible." He went on to praise the residents of the Great Lakes region for their hospitality to young recruits: "One thing the fellows here can never forget is the royal treatment they received from the people around here. They are giving all kinds of entertainment, such as auto trips, parties, dances, "feeds," and the like. As yet I have not found anyone who acted indifferent, and that is a whole lot, considering the number here."

Hogan's enthusiasm for the Naval Reserve evidently waxed following the Armistice that ended World War I. Family lore indicates that, when he returned to Youngstown, in 1919, he seemed disillusioned by his extended contact with veteran seamen. Hogan's older sister, Catherine Irvine, fresh from Western Reserve University, reportedly suggested that her brother continue his education. Oral tradition suggests that Hogan's decision to attend the University of Notre Dame was based, in part, on his appreciation of the school's outstanding football program. Upon his arrival at South Bend, Ind., in 1920, Hogan began his studies in the field of law and also became involved in freshman sports. He befriended athletes such as football legend George ("the Gipper") Gipp and shared a dormitory room with Elmer Layden, who gained fame on the gridiron as one of the "Four Horsemen." (Layden later served as the university's athletic director.)

Although he was primarily interested in playing football, Hogan's athletic career took a sharp turn after an encounter with legendary football coach Knute Rockne. Family lore suggests that Rockne was on hand when Hogan demonstrated a pole-vaulting technique to a member of the university's track team. An impressed Rockne, who also coached track, informed Hogan that he was no longer playing football. When Hogan objected, Rockne responded that talented football players were "a dime a dozen," while outstanding pole-vaulters were a commodity. Whatever the case, the record shows that Hogan served as a member of Notre Dame's outdoor varsity track team from 1921 to 1923, where he excelled at the pole vault and broad jump.

The 1922 edition of The Dome, Notre Dame's yearbook, states: "Rockne's outdoor track team of 1921 took fourth place at the outdoor conference after being a strong contender for second position all the way." Two weeks later, at the national Intercollegiate Meet, "when each team was restricted to eight men, the local team took second place, with 16 ½ points, after Illinois, which tallied 20 ¼." The article concludes that, "[i]f suspensions had not affected the team the 1922 squad would have been in line for the national title." Significantly, on a star-studded team that included three future Olympians, Hogan more than held his own. The yearbook reported that "Eddie Hogan and Capt. Kaspar were consistent point winners in the more important meets." In a dual meet with the University of Illinois, Hogan "took third place with nine points by winning the pole vault and scoring in the javelin and broad jump."

The 1922 season saw a similar outcome for the track team. In 1923, The Dome reported: "The Gold and Blue were again state champions, were fourth in the Western Conference, and third in the National Collegiate meet, the highest of mid-western teams." The biggest news that season was the presence of three Olympic contenders on the track team—Johnny Murphy, Bill Hayes, and Gus Desch. Family lore suggests that Hogan was expected to join his teammates but sustained an injury during training. Reference to an injury or illness can be found in The Dome's description of Hogan's performance at the Notre Dame-Illinois track meet, held in Urbana, Ill., on May 19, 1922. The article states: "...Hogan, just out of the infirmary, got second in the pole vault." Despite setbacks, Hogan placed in numerous events. When Notre Dame faced Walsh College in Indianapolis, on May 9, Hogan placed first in both the running broad jump (19 ft. 11 ½ inches) and pole vault (11 ft. 2 inches). On March 10, during a meet with the University of Wisconsin, in Madison, he took first in the pole vault, clearing a height of 12 feet, 3 inches.

Named as a "monogram man" in his final season, Hogan won first place in the pole vault in a May 19, 1923, meet with Michigan Agricultural College, and tied for fifth in the broad jump at the Western Intercollegiate Meet, on June 2-3. The 1923 Notre Dame yearbook noted: "Eddie Hogan, who consistently cleared the bar in the pole vault at twelve feet, accounted for many points during the season." Hogan was joined on the track team by his roommate, Elmer Layden, another versatile athlete, who placed first in the 100-yard dash during the May meet with Michigan "Aggie." Significantly, Hogan's extracurricular activities went beyond track and field. Apart from three years of varsity track and one year of freshman track, he served as a freshman coach, as vice-president of the Monogram Club, and as president of the Law Club. Hogan was also active in the Knights of Columbus, Blue Circle, and the Ohio Club. Meanwhile, he was employed during the summers. His obituary notes that he worked for U.S. Steel Corp.'s Gary (Indiana) Works chemical laboratory and competed in company-sponsored contests. The article states: "In 1922 he was the outstanding star of the firm's employees track meet, setting a new meet record in the pole vault, winning the high jump and the broad jump and finishing third in the javelin." The esteem in which classmates and instructors held him was reflected in a write-up that appeared in the 1924 issue of The Dome: "Ed is one of the most quietly popular men on the campus, as his record will show. Winning monograms, coaching Notre Dame teams, and earning club honors are for Ed only preludes to winning honor and success in the world. He is a man Notre Dame will be sorry to lose."

On Nov. 1, 1923, Hogan married the former Elizabeth Agnes Gottschalk, of Salem, Ohio, in a ceremony in South Bend. His best man was former teammate Elmer Layden. After graduation, he settled in Canton, Ohio, where, between 1924 and 1926, he served as athletic director of the city's newly built Knights of Columbus facility, at 6th St. NW. Family lore indicates that Hogan also held a position in the municipal government, though records are unavailable to confirm this. His obituary states that "he lived in Canton for several years and helped establish the Canton Catholic Youth Center." At some point, around 1927, Hogan relocated to Los Angeles, where he practiced law as a patent attorney for Enseco Derrick & Equipment Corp. until his retirement. In the early 1960s, Edward and Elizabeth Hogan adopted a son, Edward Jude Hogan.
On Nov. 10, 1931, about a year after the death of Elizabeth Gottschalk Hogan, Edward Hogan married the former Ilo Arlance Henriette Wilson. In 1953, the couple had their first child, Dennis James Hogan. In subsequent years, the Hogans had two more children, Paul David Hogan, in 1954, and Karen Marie Hogan, in 1961. In 1976, after a bout with lung cancer, Edward Hogan passed away near Long Beach, Calif. He was buried in Resurrection Cemetery, in Montcurey Park, Calif. His death was duly noted in his hometown, where many residents still remembered him as the youthful athlete who, 60 years earlier, had thrown the decisive pass in t point getters on the squad, and, together with Captain Forsythe, formed a combination which would be hard to equal. The points won by the first three men took third at the Mt. Union Meet, while Reid and Palbst collected enough at Columbus to give Rayen third place in the State meet. All three of these men hold school records, and, in addition, "Eddie" Hogan is acknowledged to be the best javelin thrower in the state. Reid, who has won the letter four times in track, has been the highest individual scorer for two seasons. He holds the school record for the mile, the half mile, and the judges at the State meet a Columbus declared him one of the best high school distance men that they had ever seen. Palbst is holder of two records, the hammer, and discus throws, and is the best weight man Rayen ever had. It may be well to mention here also the only man outside of Bob Reid who ever won a track letter in his Freshman year—Nick Narducci.

The meet which was held at 10 o'clock, May 12, was won by Alliance 66-47. The morning was raw and cold, with a high wind blowing. The fellows did well in spite of this drawback. Rayen took six firsts, and so did Alliance, but Alliance made out better on the seconds, and thirds. Summary:

Mount Union Field Meet

The Rayen track team journeyed to Mount Union May 18, and took third place in the meet. The feature of the meet was the mile run, and this event attracted most of the people. Reid won the race, doing the mile in 4 minutes 45 seconds, a new record for Rayen and for the Mount Union track. Hogan created another feature when he threw the Javelin 153 feet 8 inches. The javelin went over the judge's heads, and established a state record for Hogan. Pahst broke his former record in the shot-put, and he took third in this event. Reid won second in the half mile over a large number of contestants.

Alliance took first in the meet with 23 points, University School, Cleveland, second with 18 points, and Rayen third with 15 points.
Columbus Meet

The track team left Friday, May 25, for a two-day trip to Columbus. The fellows took third in the meet against strong and large schools of Ohio. Reid got second in the mile, finishing just a few feet behind Heipel, the winner, who established a new state record, 4 minutes, 34 seconds for the mile run. Reid also won second in the half mile. Pabst got first in the discus, throwing 410 feet 8 inches, and a tie for second in the shot-put. The meet was won by Scott High, Toledo, with 45 points; North High, Columbus, second, with 35 points, and Rayen, third, with 12 points.

South-Rayen Meet

On Saturday, June 2, Rayen won the annual meet from South 60 to 46, for the third consecutive time. The fellows did well, but no records fell, as there was no one to push them. A fair and enthusiastic crowd attended the meet, and the weather was good. Rayen took eight firsts to South's five, seven seconds to South's five, and five thirds to South's six.

With this meet won we retain the cup permanently, and from all appearances, if another is offered, we will take that in the minimum time. Summary of meet:

High Jump—Hogan, R.; Samuels, R.; McPhee, S.; 5 feet 4 inches.
Discus—Pabst, R.; Panzy, S.; Person, S.; 104 feet 1 inch.

Javelin Throw—Hogan, R.; Person, S.; Rock, R.; 135 feet 5 inches.
Relay—South: 1 minute 42:4-5 seconds.
Total points: Rayen 60; South 46.

Warren 6; Rayen 17

On Saturday, April 28, the Rayen baseball team decisively defeated Warren 17 to 6. Meyer had no difficulty in holding except in the fifth, when Warren scored four runs. Parker made a home run in the second, while in the third Rayen scored seven runs, and four in the fifth. The fellows showed up good in this game, and made few errors, considering that this was the second game of the season. The line-up:

Girard I; Rayen 6

On May 1, the baseball team took over Girard in a seven inning game to the tune of 6 to 1. The Orange and Black team had no difficulty in holding Girard, as Parker held them to four hits. Our fellows hit safely ten times, which netted six runs. The fellows showed up fine for the first game of the season:

Score: Girard 6, Rayen 4

Girard 5; Rayen 15

Rayen's baseball team met and defeated the Girard nine on Decoration Day, to the tune of 15 to 5. In the first inning, Girard was out with only one man reaching first. Rayen then started, making two runs with only one hit. Neither team scored in the second, but Girard got four runs in the third, while Rayen got two, tying the score. Girard got but one more run, and that in the seventh. The fifth was murder for the ball, as the team batted around once and a half, making nine runs. After that, there was little interest in the game. A large number of bases were stolen in the game, nine by the Orange and Black, and three by Girard.

COACH ROCKNE exhibits the same personal characteristics in the development of his track teams that attend his work on the gridiron, and the results annually obtained on the ciaders approach the results of the turf—the individual limitations of the track men always considered.

Rockne's outdoor track team of 1921 took fourth place at the outdoor conference after being a strong contender for second position all the way. At the National college meet two weeks later, when each team was restricted to eight men, the local team took second place, with 103\% points, after Illinois, which tallied 20\%. If suspensions had not affected the team the 1922 squad would have been in line for the national title.

Rockne has developed Chet Wynne, Buck Shaw, Billy Burke, Eddie Meehan and many other stars who came to Notre Dame without a record. Murphy, Desch and Hayes have shown the influence of their coaching in their record flights, and the mill which grinds out future stars is constantly grinding in the old gymnasium. The melancholy days that came with the winter of 1922 will pass away before a greater period of glory when Rock presents his 1923 aggregation. Watch it.
Our World’s Record Holders

IT COMES to but few men in a field of sport to reach the pinnacle. We didn’t make Walter Camp’s football team this year although we seem to have made every other expert in plentiful supply. Johnny Mohrdat seems slated for a utility berth with the Detroit Tigers—an approach to the pinnacle of baseball. But in track there is no doubt because track is a matter of figures and not opinions. We present our two holders of world’s records—Johnny Murphy and Gus Desch.

Capt. Johnny Murphy—Murphy cut his niche in the hall of fame for the year by leaping six feet four and three-fourth inches at Madison Square Garden on the evening of February 1. His jump shattered a record which had stood for ten years. It was Johnny’s first jump of the season and he is expected to reach still greater heights when he enters the Penn Relays April 28—the opening event of the outdoor track season.

Johnny is the most consistent jumper in the world. He held the national championship in 1919 and 1920 and lost it last season in the jump-off after he had tied Dewey Alberts at six feet four inches. He holds the present conference record, the national A. A. and Indiana state records. Johnny will be with us still another year.

Gus Desch—The august August makes our page on two counts. At the Penn Relays last year he cracked the world mark in the 110 yard low hurdles by negotiating them in 13.8 1-5, lowering the former mark of 13.4 1-5 held by Jack Watts of Cornell. Previous to this performance Gus had equalled the world mark of 13.4 1-5 in the 40 yard indoor low hurdles. He bettered his Penn Relay mark at Dayton but the new record was not allowed.

Desch is also national champion in his favorite event by virtue of a win over Norton at the California meet where Murphy lost his national title. He runs the 100 yard dash in ten seconds, the 220 in close to 22. He is a 50 second quarter miler and runs anchor on the local mile relay team which is expected to do great things outdoors. Desch will probably be a regular half-back on the football squad next year and is president of the Junior class and a member of the S. A. C. Gus has another year of competition.
Outdoor Track 1921

NOTRE DAME athletic teams are rapidly becoming synonymous with color, action and speed; and the mention of the name implies to the casual observer something of the free lance, the keen and resourceful performer whose operations are worthy of attention.

Notre Dame track men in the spring of 1921 did a great deal towards strengthening this growing impression of the free lance which the football teams have created. From the Atlantic to the Pacific, Rockne sent his athletes; and from New York and Boston to Pasadena, including the way-stations of Philadelphia, Dayton, Chicago and Omaha, these quick-limbed representatives of the Golden Dome have gathered for themselves and for their school a greater share of glory than has been amassed by the representatives of any other school in the country. World, national amateur, national collegiate, conference, state, and track championships have fallen in the onslaught.

Track is the most individual of the major sports; it brings a greater individual reward than football, baseball and basketball. In the very nature of the competition a clear line separates all events. So in summarizing the final honors of the season the faithful arrow points to five members of the squad whose personal excellence has raised the gold and blue in triumph on fields throughout the entire country; a closer analysis would reduce the number to three.

Gus Desch, Johnny Murphy and Bill Hayes were the big three of Notre Dame track for the season, with Buck Shaw and Capt.-elect, Chet Wynne, looming forth as the season progressed as among the nation’s best. Eddie Hogan and Capt. Kasper were consistent point winners in the more important meets and Eugene Oberst, John Montague and John Flynn flashed a promise of great things in their next two years of competition. George Meredith, Jerry Hour and Alexander Colgan worked steadily on the relay teams.
which furnished no small part of the year’s triumphs. Rex Mc Barnes, Al Ficks, Phil Dant and Mulcahey complete the list of monogram men of the squad.

No monograms were awarded in the mile and two mile events in which the team was lamentably weak—a weakness which has dealt a heavy blow to team victories and which threatens to deprive Notre Dame track of full victories until long-distance men are developed.
This condition is chronic; observant alumni might direct their attention to promising high school runners. Baumer, Rohrbach, Heather and Culhane gave their best throughout the season; and if monograms could be awarded for sheer grit and determination this hard-working quartet would be nominated by a rising vote of the school.

The outdoor season began auspiciously at the Drake Relays when the Notre Dame half-mile relay team raced home a victor. The mile quartet lost to Illinois by a split second. The two teams ran in different sections and Notre Dame lost on comparative time.
Chet Wynne flashed into national prominence by finishing a close second to Wright of Nebraska in the 120-yard high hurdles, defeating Anderson of Minnesota and Knollin of Wisconsin, who had previously defeated the local star.

Gus Desch, who had been content with nominal notice during the indoor season, broke into everything, from headlines to the movies, when he cracked the only world’s record which fell at the “Little Olympics” at the Penn Relays in Philadelphia, April 30. Desch eclipped two-fifths of a second from the former mark made by Jack Watts of Cornell, in the 440-yard low hurdles, the new record being 58 4-5 seconds. Johnny Murphy overcame his Decoy Alberts jinx by entering a four-cornered tie with Alberts and Osborne of Illinois and Chambers of Virginia, for first honors in the high jump.
The relay quartet led all other Western teams to the tape and took fourth place in the mile relay championships. Buck Shaw’s heavy fall just outside the throws of the qualifying quartet in the shot put and Chet Wynne was distanced in the high hurdles after win-ing his heat.
The home fans received a rare treat when Illinois appeared on Carrier Field May 7 in the first outdoor dual meet of the year. The teams which later battled to first and second positions in the Western National Collegiate meet, offered the greatest dual exhibition of the year. Three Carrier field records were broken, others approached and the result was in doubt until the final two events gave Illinois a 78%-22% victory. Practically every event was closely contested and Rhode's men were glorious in defeat. Notre Dame took the hurdles and sprints, the field events were evenly divided but the notorious local weakness in the distance runs swung the meet for the visitors.

Chet Wyne cracked the track record and tied the state mark by stepping the high hurdles in 11.5 2-5-7; Alberts won a sensational victory from Johnny Murphy by leaping six feet, four inches for a new track record. Brede, of Illinois, smashed the track javelin record with a toss of 191 feet, 4 inches. Buck Shaw electrified the crowd by a heave of 44 feet, 7½ inches in the shot put. Gus D cose, with 11 points, was high point man of the meet by winning the 220-yard low hurdles and taking second in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, both of which were won by Bill Hayes, who was second with 10 points. Eddie Hogan took third place with nine points by winning the pole vault and scoring in the javelin and broad jump. Capt. Kasper was the hero of thrilling fights in the 440 and 880-yard runs, although he won neither event. The high jump was the thriller of the meet.

On the following Saturday, May 14, the squad won an 81-45 victory over the Michigan Aggies at Lansing. Seven track records fell during the meet, Wyne, Doseh, Shaw and Oberst earning the right to have their names engraved upon future Aggie score cards. Oberst's throw of 165 feet, 10 inches was all the more sensational because it was his second attempt of his career. McMellen, Dunl and Maloney also won monograms and Montague turned in an excellent quarter-mile.

May 28 at Carrier field, the squad won the Indiana State meet with 69 points. Purdue was runner up with 58½. Earlham and Wabash tied at 20½. DePauw took fifth, while Butler and Indiana trailed. Five state records fell and one was tied—Shaw, Murphy and the relay team turning in new marks for Notre Dame, and Furnas, of Purdue, and Kne, of Wabash, registering for the visitors. Chet Wyne tied the high hurdle mark in a sensational win over Tyr of Earlham; Kentucky Oberst cracked the former state record in the javelin but saw his own new mark split by Kne ten minutes later. Meredith, Colgan, Montague and How composed the victorious relay quartet. Hayes was high point man, followed by Furnas, Ivy, Hogan, Watson, Wyne, Doseh, Kasper and Shaw. Capt. Kasper won a thrilling quarter with Montague running well. Hayes won the 100 after a poor start.

The following Saturday found the cream of the squad in action in the big objective of the season—the outdoor Conference meet at Chicago. Illinois was an easy winner and Notre Dame fell below Michigan and Wisconsin after an early bid for second place. The team failure was outdone by the stellar work of Murphy and Hayes who cracked the only two records which fell during the day. Hayes tied the Conference mark of 409 1-5 in the 100 and Murphy picked a perfect setting for his first victory of the season over Alberts, setting a new Conference record of 6 feet, 2 inches in the process. Shaw won the shot put. Eddie Hogan continued his steady work by an altogether surprising third place in the pole vault. Gus Desch dropped to fourth place in the 220-yard low hurdles and the relay team finished fifth in a well-bunched group at the tape.

Every Notre Dame entrant placed. Meredith, Hoar, Montague and Kasper ran the relay, Chet Wynne was disqualified in the preliminaries when he fell while leading his heat.

Coach Rockne entered men in seven events in an Invitation meet at Dayton June 11 and the local stars responded by winning firsts in every event. Gus Desch lapped 1 2-5 seconds from his former world's record in the 440 yard low hurdles; Johnny Murphy jumped 6 ft. 4 7-8 inches; Hayes won the 100 and 220, the latter in 21 2-5; Wynne took both hurdles in 35 and 29; and the relay team (Meredith, Hoar, Montague, Desch) raced home in 3:22.

On June 18 at Stagg field, Chicago, eight Notre Dame men brought home second honors in competition with more than 60 schools in the National Collegiate meet.
Illinois topped with 201 and we followed with 160.
Johnny Murphy evened the count with Dewey Alberts by again toppling the "Skylark" with a 6 foot 3 inch jump for the National collegiate title. Gus Desch showed his true form to the Conference hurdlers by winning the 220 low sticks in 24 4-5. Bill Hayes took second place in the 100 and fourth in the 220 and Chet Wynne landed fourth in the 120 yard high hurdles, after Thompson, Crawford and Anderson. Thompson tying his own world's record. Shaw took fifth in the shot put, Oberst broke into big time with fifth in the javelin and Eddie Hogan proved his class by a fifth place tie in the pole vault. As usual, every Notre Dame entrant placed.

The final curtain for a wonderful season fell at the National A. A. U. championship meet at Pasadena, July 4. Desch, Murphy and Hayes represented Notre Dame and held up the school's reputation for ability to go anywhere and show byopping a first, second and third. Desch showed the way to Norton, Kilby and Sellers in the 440 yard low hurdles for a mark of 33 2-5 seconds, another fracture of his Penn Relay world's record. Johnny Murphy lost his season's duel to Alberts by an eye-lash. The two best jumpers in the world left Landon behind when they tied at six feet 4 inches. In the jump-off Alberts beat Johnny at 6 feet 2 ½ inches. Bill Hayes took a close third after Paddock and Kirksey in the 220 but was left in the 100 due to a quick gun.
Indoor Track 1922

The story of the indoor track season of 1922 is sad and unusual in certain respects but has its good element within. Misfortune’s disheartening seed blossomed unpleasantness in multi-colored flowers and converted the beautiful gardens of our hopes into a waste of weeds; but the thing we know as Notre Dame spirit, the people we know as Notre Dame students, smiled sadly, perhaps, but not weekly. The student and the athlete walked through that desolation, tore out the weeds and planted the elements of a new and more beautiful landscape which we hope will blossom in the spring.

The heavy metaphor being cast into its iron plate we shall now talk English.

When the year began we had visions of a national championship. Capt. Wynne, Buck Shaw, Johnny Murphy, Gus Desch and Bill Hayes formed a beautiful hand to draw to. Eddie Hogan, Gene Oherst, King Brady, Paul Kennedy, Fritz Boumer, John Montague, Luke Walsh, Red Heffernan, John Fyinn, Tom Lieb, Frank Disney, O’Hara, and other lads represented a solid collection of reserve material capable of adding additional points.

We were exceedingly proud—and then came the fall, the most curious succession of accidents known to the history of the school. Suspension, accident, sickness and ineligibility reduced the proud array of invincibility to an almost pitiful remnant. In rapid order went Capt. Wynne and Buck Shaw—two of the noblest lads who have ever worn the colors—last irrecoverably. Bill Hayes followed with a pulled tendon, and on the eve of the first meet of the year with Wisconsin, Johnny Murphy felt the force of a faculty ruling that declared him ineligible until April. All this was the result of a peculiar chain of events for which no person was directly responsible. Barber became ill and was lost for the indoor season and Frank Disney took the same route with a threatened attack of appendicitis. The riot of misfortune reached its climax when both Gus Desch and John Montague were injured at Urbana in the Illinois dual meet.

The indoor season was a nightmare but we hope for better things outside when all but Wynne and Shaw will be available for competition. Although the season was generally disappointing we managed to slip a few blows past the trailing jinx before he had completely surrounded us.

Johnny Murphy blew the lid off at the Millrose games, Feb. 1, in Madison Square Garden by jumping to a new world’s record of six feet, four and three-quarters inches. A mile relay team composed of Heffernan, Walsh, Montague and Desch took second place at the same meet. Murphy relaxed at the Boston A. A. handicap games, Feb. 4, and dropped to third place. Gus Desch placed fourth in the 40 yard dash. Performing in his honor, Newark on Feb. 6, Gus took advantage of the opportunity to show in his chosen field and took first place in the invitation 100 yard low hurdles against a field of eastern college men.

Johnny Murphy, Wynne, Shaw and Barber, and with Bill Hayes completing handicapped by an injured leg, the squad lost to Wisconsin 52-34 in the first indoor dual meet of the year at the local gym, Feb. 18. The relay team set a new gym record of 3:30.2-3 and Fritz Boumer surprised the spectators by winning the two-mile run from Finkle, Bulger star, who had already won the mile. The victory was saddened but not cheapened by the sudden collapsing of Finkle who went down with a broken leg after Boumer had passed him on the final sprint. Desch won the 40 yard dash and Kennedy ran well in the mile and the half.

Johnny Murphy was elected track captain before the Illinois meet but did not compete. Bill Hayes and Disney joined the crew of cripples and the depleted squad went to Urbana Feb. 25. Gus Desch, local hope in the hurdles, dash and relay, and the last remaining man of the original big five, pulled a tendon in the first heat which put him out of competition for a month. Montague was spiked in the 440 and the relay was cancelled. Eddie Hogan and Cameron tied in the pole vault for our only first place and Illinois won 88-88—the toughest blow of all.

Rockne took ten men to the Illinois relays, March 4, for experience and to “view the meet.” Eddie Hogan placed third in the pole vault and the indoor season was over.

The Story

The curtain of a new day has descended on a glorious period for many sparkling track feats of the 1922 season at Notre Dame. Records were broken by Hayes, Murphy, and Lieb, and other men threatened to break marks that had stood for years. The Gold and Blue were again state champions, were fourth in the Western Conference, and third in the National Collegiate meet, the highest of mid-western teams.

Three Olympic stars were on the Notre Dame team. Johnny Murphy, Bill Hayes and Gus Desch, had seen the fields of world competition. The team as a whole was one of the strongest that ever represented the University. Baumer, Heffernan, Hayes, and Dant were lost by graduation, and Rockne was given the task of building up a new team around the stars that remained, everyone of them an unusual track man. Montague, Walsh, Kennedy, Cameron, Hogan, Flynn, Barber, Desch, Lieb, and Moe's. Bill Hayes spent the 1923 season at DePauw, as track coach there.

The Notre Dame track team approaches closest to the Notre Dame football team in securing national sport marks. Last year they showed their standing, by securing five places in the Drake Relays, winning the State meet, defeating DePauw, running fourth in the Conference meet, winning of their one entry in the Penn Relays, making a good showing against the strong Illinois team, and returning highest of track teams of the section in the National meet.

Bill Hayes broke the 19-year-old Conference mark for the century at the Conference games, lowering the mark from 94 4/5 to 97 7/10. Blair, of Chicago, established the record, and Hayes tied it twice. Murphy broke the Conference high jump mark in the same meet, with Osborne, of Illinois, making 6 feet 5 1/2 inches. Tom Lieb set a new discus record by hurling the disc 144 feet. At the last meet, Lieb broke his own mark by 144 feet 21/2 inches. Hayes set a meet record for the dash, while Hayes in the 220, Desch in the low hurdles, and Hogan in the pole vault, were close contestants in events in which records were also broken. Montague, Lieb, Murphy, the relay team, Barber, Desch, Montague and Heffernan, broke records in the State meet.

Indoor Track

The 1923 indoor track season presaged a successful outdoor track season for the 1923 varsity. At the beginning of the season the outlook was not favorable, and even though there were several misfortunes during the season it was soon seen that the team was developing well, and that on Carrier and other fields the men would be successful competitors in the important meets of the year.

Kennedy, O'Hare, Barber and Cox opened the season by representing Notre Dame in the I. A. C. meet in Chicago. The men placed second in the relay, a creditable showing. By the time of the Freshman-Varsity meet, it was seen that the team had many good athletes, and that the varsity could make its usual good showing. The University of Illinois met an equal in the Notre Dame gymnasium on February 17th, but an unfortunate stumble in the relay lost the meet for Notre Dame, the score being even until that last event. Coughlin, of Notre Dame, was ahead when he stumbled, and the team lost just enough ground to lose the relay and the meet.

For the first time in four years, Notre Dame defeated Illinois in the mile, when Cox and Kennedy finished first and second, with Wells, of Illinois, a poor third. Moes and Lieb won the shuttleput with no more than ordinary effort. Cox won the half mile in a pretty finish spurt. Barber had given way to Hall, of Illinois, and Cox was ten yards behind, when he speeded up to pass both in the but fifty yards remaining. Brady won first in the broad jump. Adam Walsh got third in the hurdles. Luke Walsh was second in the quarter. Barr second in the forty-yard dash. Weeks tied for first in the high jump, and Hogan, just out of the infirmary, got second in the pole vault.

Tom Lieb and Barr were stars of the indoor relay carnival at Urbana on March 3. Van Orden, of Michigan, made a new carnival record for the shuttleput, and Lieb almost defeated him. A new carnival record was made in the 75-yard dash by Ayers, of Illinois, with Barr a close second. In the medley relay, Notre Dame was again second, Nebraska winning. In the one-mile relay—in which another carnival record was made—Notre Dame, on the outside lane, had to content itself with fourth place.

Wisconsin was the better in a 50-36 meet at Madison on March 10. The well-balanced Badger team outpointed the Notre Dame outfit consistently. Walsh, of Notre Dame, won individual honors when he placed first in the 40-yard high hurdles and came in third in the 440-yard dash. Hogan won the pole vault with twelve feet and three inches, and Notre Dame won the relay in three minutes and 46 2-10 seconds.

Notre Dame placed first in every event in which they entered in the A. A. U. Invitation Meet at Louisville, Ky., on March 31. Captain Gus Desch was second in the 60-yard low hurdles and Kennedy second in the one-mile handicap. Illinois won the college relay, Notre Dame coming in second.

Like most fighting Irishmen, a woman is the only thing John fears. He attacks philosophy and forces an unconditional surrender. He is a prominent member of "Colonel" John F. Ryan's famous "500" troop, and goes on the warpath frequently to defend Wisconsin's merits and the glories of farm life.

Hubert comes from Dixon, whence had many other noted gentlemen. Not many of them are engineers, however, and Hubert has the distinction therefore of being an engineer from Dixon. He is worthy of it all. Industry and application are his virtues—visits to Cadillac and Herb Jones, his only vices.

Ed is one of the most quietly popular men on the campus, as his record will show. Winning monograms, coaching Notre Dame teams, and earning club honors are for Ed only preludes to winning honor and success in the world. He is a man Notre Dame will be sorry to lose.

Tom, president of the Glee Club, has had a finger in many a Notre Dame pie and the fact that the finger was there was enough to assure the success of that particular venture. A list of the affairs which Tom has aided would require an extra page in the senior section.

(The Youngstown Vindicator, March 22, 1976)

ATTY. HOGAN, 78, DIES;

Atty. Edward J. Hogan, 78, of South Gate, Calif., one of Rayen School’s all-time athlete greats, died of lung cancer Wednesday in a hospital at South Gate.

Atty. Hogan set records in several field events while a member of the Rayen track team, including marks in the district and state meets. His records stood for many years.

A member of the Rayen football team in 1916 and 1917, he threw the game-winning forward pass in the 1916 Thanksgiving Day game against traditional rival South High.

After naval service, he enrolled at the University of Notre Dame where he played football and participated in track. He was a roommate of Elmer Layden, one of [Notre Dame’s] famed Four Horsemen. Mr. Layden was best man at Mr. Hogan’s wedding.

During summers at Notre Dame he worked for U.S. Steel Corp.’s Gary Works chemical laboratory. In 1922 he was the outstanding star of the firm’s [employees] track meet, setting a new meet record in [the] pole vault, winning the high jump and the broad jump and finishing third in the javelin.

After graduation he lived in Canton several years and helped establish the Canton Catholic Youth Center. He then moved to California and practiced law in Los Angeles as a patent attorney for Emsco Derrick & Equipment Corp. before retiring.

His first wife, the former Betty Gutshaw [sic] of Salem, is deceased.
